

RAIN INTERFERED WITH FESTIVITIES

Immense Crowd of Visitors Disappointed when Showers Mar Program of the Evening.

ACTS COULD NOT BE GIVEN

Large Delegations from Columbus and North Vernon Met by Local Business Men.

Jupiter Pluvius, who has been threatening all week to take a hand in the Festival proceedings, but who until Thursday had not interfered with the week's enjoyment, last night asserted his ugly disposition and succeeded in putting an effectual damper on the festivities of the evening.

Whether the weather man had an old grudge against the Columbus and North Vernon visitors, or whether he thought he would humiliate Seymour by waiting until her guests had arrived is not known, but the fact remains that the visiting delegations had no more than climbed off their cars when the rain commenced falling.

The Columbus delegation arrived about 7:15, in six cars which were crowded to their capacity. All the afternoon cars had brought down crowds from the north and the evening Pennsylvania train had passengers tucked away in the baggage cars. There were more than six hundred in the special delegation last night and it is estimated that there were almost eight hundred Columbus people on the streets.

The North Vernon crowd arrived on B. & O. S-W. train 27 at 7:15 and there were over three hundred in their delegation.

The visitors were escorted from the depots by the Seymour Business men, led by the Zouave Band, to the Farmers' Club Building, where they were shown through the new home of Jackson County farmers. The Columbus delegation was led by the Columbus Band.

The rain, which started with a slight shower, soon became a steady downpour, and umbrellas and raincoats were at a premium. The first half of the performance on the Second street stage was given, but the rain became so heavy that it was impossible to continue the show, or to give any of the other attractions.

The visitors, although disappointed, proceeded to make the best out of the situation. The big manufacturer's exhibit tent was crowded all evening and the Columbus Band gave concerts there, and also in front of the New Lynn Hotel.

Many compliments were passed upon the selections given by the Columbus band and the concerts helped to enliven the evening. The band is one of the best in this part of the state and the Seymour people were more than pleased that the members made the trip here.

The crowd sought shelter in the stores, hotels and theaters, and later in the evening, when the rain almost ceased, flocked out into the streets again.

The Columbus people began returning about 10 o'clock and special cars were also run south to handle the crowds. The North Vernon people left on a special train at 11 o'clock. The Festival committee was greatly disappointed over the rain, for without doubt there was the largest crowd ever on the streets out to enjoy the evening.

The committee had done everything in their power, but they could not control the elements and it is suggested that commission be appointed to investigate and report before the festival next year.

The visitors expressed themselves as highly pleased with the decorations and exhibits and blamed the weather man and not their Seymour hosts for their disappointment.

REDDINGTON BAND GETS FIRST PRIZE

Splendid Concerts Also Given by Freetown and Surprise Organizations—Made High Scores.

MARDI GRAS IS NEXT FEATURE

Revelers Will Meet at Corner of Ewing and Second Street for the Big Parade.

Despite the heavy rain of Thursday night and the threatening skies this morning there was a good crowd on the streets early today. Trains and cars again brought hundreds of visitors into town, and there was an unusually large number of automobiles and buggies coming in from the surrounding country.

An interesting feature of this morning's program was the band contest of Jackson county bands. There were three entries, the Reddington, Freetown and Surprise organizations being the contestants.

The concerts were given on the Tipton street stage and were heard by a large crowd of their friends.

The judges were W. M. Ewing, Cecil Morgan and Turner Nearing, of Ewings Zouave Band and they scored the contesting bands on their time, tone, attack, selection and ensemble. The Reddington band received 76 points, winning first prize; Freetown was second with 74 points and Surprise third with 70 points.

The judges of the various exhibits are at work awarding premiums, and several have completed their task and awarded the red and blue ribbons, but the work at some of the booths has not been completed and the results will not be known until tomorrow.

There will be a large number of masked revelers out and the evening will be converted into a care free joyous Mardi Gras. The committee wish it distinctly understood, however, that no rowdiness will be tolerated. The Mardi Gras parade will form on Ewing street near Second, and will move at exactly 8:15 o'clock. All maskers are requested to appear in the parade, which will proceed west on Second street to Chestnut, south on Chestnut to Bruce, and counter-march on Chestnut to Second.

E. C. BOLLINGER RECEIVES FIRST FLORAL PARADE AWARD

Second Prize Goes to Mrs. M. S. Blish—Mrs. Bertie Smith Gets Buick Premium.

The judges in the floral parade made known their awards Thursday afternoon after the parade had been repeated. The first prize went to E. C. Bollinger and the second to Mrs. M. S. Blish. The prize offered by the Stewart Garage to the best decorated Buick car was awarded to Mrs. Tilden Smith.

The judges, who were selected by the Floral Committee, were Dr. D. J. Cummins, of Brownstown, and Mayor Karl Volland and Miss May Ensley, of Columbus. They confessed that their job was a hard one, and that many of the cars were so excellent that it was difficult to say which were best. Mr. Bollinger's car was one of

BOSTON TAKES THE FIRST GAME, 7-1

Athletics and Braves Battle for World's Honors at Shibe Park, Philadelphia.

WEATHER IDEAL FOR GAME.

Braves Knock Bender Out of the Box in the Sixth Inning—Boston Team Hitting Like Demons.

By United Press. Shibe Park, Philadelphia, October 9.—The Athletics led by Strunk, walked into the field at 12:25 o'clock this afternoon, prepared after a brief practice, to defend their honors as world's champions. Five minutes later the Braves appeared. At that hour the bleachers were overflowing with only a few in the grandstand. A warm sun with a few clouds made the weather ideal.

Manager Stalling appeared confident and stated that his team would win. Johnnie Evers and Eddy Collins were each given autos for being the most valuable players in their respective leagues and the preliminary events were over.

The batteries were announced for the two teams as follows:

Philadelphia: Bender and Schang; Boston: Rudolph and Gowdy.

First Inning Boston. Moran was up. The first ball was called a strike, the second was a ball. He fouled the third. He fouled out to McInnis. Evers popped to Collins, hitting the first ball. Connolly fanned, swinging hard. No hits no errors.

Athletics. Murphy singled to right center. Oldring sacrificed, Gowdy to Schmidt. It was a perfect bunt and he nearly beat it out. Rudolph appeared wild. He walked Collins, throwing only five balls. Baker fouled to Smith and Murphy was doubled up on third Schmidt, throwing to Deal. Schmidt's throw was marvelous. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Second Boston. Whitted walked. The first three balls were high. The next two across the pan and the next wide. Schmidt flied to Oldring. Gowdy swung on the first two balls and then doubled to center, scoring Whitted. Maranville singled to center, scoring Gowdy. Deal hit into a double play by Collins and McInnis. 2 runs, 2 hits, no errors.

Athletics. McInnis walked on four straight balls. Strunk hit to right field. McInnis scoring; the ball got through Maran and Strunk reached third. Barry fanned. Strunk was out at the plate on Schang's grounder. Evers to Gowdy. Bender forced Schang, Maranville to Evers one run, one hit, one error.

Third Boston. Rudolph was out. Bender to McInnis. Moran fanned. Evers flied to Oldring. No hits, no errors.

Athletics. Murphy fanned. Oldring fanned. Collins out, Rudolph to Schmidt. No hits, no errors. Rudolph shows great improvement.

Fourth Boston. Connolly singled to right center. Whitted figured in a double play. Schmidt grounded to McInnis. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Athletics. McInnis fanned. Strunk singled to left and was out going to second. Connolly to Maranville. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Fifth Boston. Gowdy tripped to right center. Maranville singled to right scoring Gowdy. Deal tried to sacrifice but hit into a double play, Bender to McInnis. Maranville was doubled at first. Rudolph fanned. One run, two hits, no errors.

Sixth Boston: Moran fouled to Barry who made a difficult catch. Evers singled to center. Connolly walked. Whitted tripped to right center, scoring Evers and Connolly. He hit one of Bender's fast one squarely on the nose. The ball was

ANTWERP HOLDING AGAINST ATTACK

Germans Bombard the Line of Forts Without Ceasing Through the Entire Night.

BOMBS DROPPED INTO CITY

Reported that King Albert and His Staff are in Small Town on Holland Border.

By United Press.

Ghent, October 9. (Via Ostend)—Antwerp still withstands the assaults. All night long the German bombardment of the forts continued. Specially mounted guns designed for the work dropped an occasional shell into the city itself, the range having been accurately obtained by scores of German air crafts.

Refugees now arriving here say the mass of Belgian troops heretofore concentrated in the city have been removed.

The King left Antwerp at the head of his troops, it is reported here. The censor does not permit transmission from the center in which the troops are concentrated but it is reported unofficially that King Albert and his staff have arrived at a small Belgium town on the Holland frontier, twenty-five miles west of Antwerp.

German aircrafts are constantly hovering over the city. A score or more of fires have been started by aerial bombs, many of which are filled with petrol which ignites.

REPORTED THAT PRZEMYSL FALLS BEFORE RUSSIANS

City Has Been Object of Attack in Galicia For More Than Two Weeks.

By United Press.

Rome, October 9—Advises are received here that Przemyśl has fallen before the Russian attack. The Russian embassy has no official confirmation.

Przemyśl has been the object of attack in Galicia for more than two weeks. A steadily augmented force of Russians has been reported as besieging the garrison. If the report of the fall is true the Russian forces have established a road clear of any fortifications to the Carpathian mountains.

TRAIN ACCIDENT IS KEPT A SECRET

Six Hundred Wounded Soldiers Lost Lives when Cars Crash Through Bridge.

CAR OF GERMAN PRISONERS

Switchman Placed Train on Wrong Track and Engineer Did Not See Red Signal.

By United Press.

Paris, October 9.—When a train carrying wounded French and German prisoners from Meaux to Paris crashed through a weakened bridge across the Marne on September 20th there is every reason to believe that nearly 600 wounded men were drowned.

The utmost secrecy has surrounded the affair. Nothing more awful has happened in the European war than this accident.

The statement says:

"The train consisted of 18 cars, each carrying fifty wounded men. Many of these men have laid on battle field without attention of any sort for from one to two days and were congratulating themselves that they had been rescued and were on their way back home. On the rear of the train was attached a car full of German prisoners.

"Before reaching the bridge an engineer who had not before operated an engine on the line was given orders to stop at a red light at a designated point. A switchman misunderstood orders and sent the train on the wrong track. The red light was not seen by the engineer. Only 160 men were taken alive from the wreckage."

ANTWERP FORTS HAVE THE ADVANTAGE OVER GERMANS

Attacking Force Must Make Rush in Great Numbers so as to Literally Smother Enemy.

By United Press.

London, October 9—The Allies are optimistic over the successful turn in the siege of Antwerp. The Antwerp forts have decided advantage over the attacking forces in that the ranges of the great guns have been accurately mapped out. The Germans must attack in tremendous force so as to literally smother the Belgians while the defenses require only a sufficient number of men to man the guns.

FIRE PREVENTION DAY OBSERVED IN INDIANA

In Many Schools Exercises Were Held and Addresses on Necessity of Care Were Given.

By United Press.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 9.—All Indiana, in accordance with a proclamation issued by Governor Ralston, is observing today as Fire Prevention Day. Different methods of observing one day are being followed throughout the state but they all take up means of preventing fires.

In many of the schools of the city patriotic exercises were to be held. The fire chief and several prominent citizens were expected to address the children on precautions that should be taken against fires. The state fire marshal's office took a prominent part in the exercises throughout the city and different towns in the state.

Two years ago, at the suggestion of the Indianapolis Trade Association, Indiana citizens first observed Fire Prevention Day. Many other states were quick to take up the plan.

Governor Ralston, in his proclamation, urged the citizens to inspect their furnaces and flues today. This he said would be the means of preventing many blazes.

INDIANA GIRL TELLS REMARKABLE STORY

GOLDA YATES

Another story telling in plain and convincing language just what Nature's Creation will do is told by Golda Yates, of Grantsburg (Crawford Co.), Ind., whose recovery is considered remarkable. She says she is sure Nature's Creation saved her life.

"In February, 1913, I took a severe cold which settled on my lungs," she writes. "I doctored with our home physician but he found he was doing me no good. I never went to sleep before midnight. In April I commenced to spit up blood and my doctor said I would have lung trouble if I did not get it stopped. I then began to have hemorrhages every four weeks, then they gradually grew closer together until every two weeks, then every other day and then as high as four a day. I was so weak I couldn't walk alone. I took my first bottle of Nature's Creation in June, 1913, and I never had a hemorrhage since. My friends did not think a year ago I would be alive to-day, but I found that Nature's Creation has cured me and nothing else would. I feel better now than I have for five years and everybody says I look better. I have a good appetite, sleep good and can work as well as I ever did. Am gaining in weight."

Any possible doubts as to the real merits of this remedy are removed not only by the above story but by records of hundreds of cases which are in our files and open to the public. These records show the power of Nature's Creation in cases of tuberculosis and conditions leading to it, such as weak lungs, asthma, bronchitis, catarrh, rundown system and impure blood.

GERMANS BOMBARD ANTWERP

War Capital of Belgium In Danger.

CITY'S FALL IMMINENT

Only a Question of Time, Says Berlin Report.

IN OTHER FIELDS OF BATTLE

German Reports All Are Favorable to Kaiser's Arms.

Bordeaux, Oct. 9.—News has been received here that the king of the Belgians has marched out of Antwerp at the head of a portion of his army.

Berlin, Oct. 9.—The attack on Antwerp continues without interruption. The outer forts have been reduced, the inner line is crumbling and the fall of the city is considered only a question of a short time. The attempts of the French to recover lost ground have been frustrated and the German right wing is reported to be making progress. In the eastern theater of war the Russians are falling in every attempt to break through the German lines.

London, Oct. 9.—The situation along the battle line is reported as stationary, according to the latest official report, which adds that the same positions are held throughout in spite of engagements, notably around Roye. It also reports that the operations of the two cavalry forces which had been operating north of La Basse, the northernmost point of the battle line has extended almost as far as the North sea. In the West of the French report that they have repulsed the attacks of the Germans to the eastward of the Apremont. On the heights of the Meuse between Verdun and St. Mihiel the Germans, according to report, have withdrawn to the north and the French statement adds that the Germans continue to hold St. Mihiel and some portions of the territory north of St. Mihiel on the right bank of the Meuse.

Forcing the Fighting.

Baffling every effort of the Germans to break through their lines in northern France, the allies are steadily forcing the fighting toward Belgium. General Joffre's reports show that the Germans have been unable to check this movement, which is designed to save Antwerp, force the evacuation of Brussels and compel the Germans to retire from France if they would retain Belgium.

The battle of the Aisne, resolving itself into the battle of the Seven Rivers, has now become more than a battle or series of battles; it is a campaign which may be prolonged for weeks, from Antwerp to Nancy in a vast semi-circle. Along the southern arcs each side impregnable fortified, awaits the decision on the west flank and in the north. It is officially announced that the Germans are employing forty-one army corps with reserve divisions, or more than 2,000,000 men. The allies probably are in superior force.

Indecisive Cavalry Engagements.

The allies in their thrust toward Belgium halted counter-flanking operations by the Germans, forced back the enemy northward of Arras and fought indecisive cavalry engagements all along the Belgian frontier toward the coast. Meanwhile they improved their situation at the hinge of the battle line in the region of Roye, where the most violent blows of the Germans have been parried and where the allies in their turn recovered ground and positions lost in previous days. North of the Aisne the strain has lessened because the Germans have been obliged to withdraw troops from their center to oppose the allies' northward sweep. Along the Meuse the Germans retain their grip on St. Mihiel, but are more than ever on the defensive.

THREATEN DEATH PENALTY

Mexican Government After Striking Streetcar Men.

City of Mexico, Oct. 9.—One thousand two hundred motormen, conductors and inspectors have struck, tying up the streetcar lines of the capital. The men had given the management four hours in which to grant their demands for an increase in wages of 100 per cent, an eight-hour day and recognition of the union.

Hundreds of cabs were stopped, the fares compelled to get out and the cabmen to join in a sympathetic strike. The government has threatened to take vigorous action and to impose the death penalty upon the strikers if they persist in their violence.

Prince Francis, fourth son of the king of Bavaria, was wounded in the thigh in a battle.

TEUTON ALLIES FACE CZAR'S CENTER ARMY

Gigantic Struggle Has Begun Along the Vistula.

Berlin, Oct. 9.—An official statement from general headquarters says: "The attacks of the Russians on the government of Suwalki have been repulsed, the Russians losing 2,700 prisoners and nine machine guns. In Poland, in minor successful engagements west of Ivangorod, we have captured 4,800 prisoners."

Petrograd, Oct. 9.—The ministry of war announces that Russia has conquered and occupied 39,000 square miles of Austrian territory while successfully pushing vast offensive operations against the German provinces of East Prussia, Posen and Silesia.

The present center of interest is in southwestern Poland in the province of Radom, where the Germans, having formed a junction with Austrian forces, are obstinately opposing the advance of the Russians toward Breslau and Cracow. The battle is in the initial stage, with slight advantages gained by the Russians.

The course of the Vistula river outlines the battle front. On the west side General Hindenburg, commanding an estimated force of 600,000 Germans and Austrians, is obstinately contesting the progress of probably 1,000,000 Russians commanded by the Grand Duke Nicholas. Toward the southwest, on the left bank of the River Dunajec in Galicia, the Russians are driving back German and Austrian outposts and Cossacks are ranging the country not far east of Cracow.

Northward of this principal theater of operations, General Rennenkampf with accessions of fresh troops and artillery, is following up his success at Augustow and along the River Niemen. Russian troops have penetrated into East Prussia in some place, but for the most part the Russians are content to hold the Germans on the defensive along the whole East Prussia frontier. It is confirmed that the Russians are developing a strong offensive in the Mazurian lake region in East Prussia. Five of the forts at Przemysl have been silenced and it is apparent that the Galician stronghold will have to yield or be destroyed. Heavy artillery completely has destroyed two forts and fire is now raging in three parts of the town within the forts.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

Japanese forces have occupied the Island of Yap, the most important island in the Caroline group.

German aeroplanes again have dropped bombs into Paris, wounding several persons and doing much damage.

There already is an increased demand for American horses in the countries now engaged in the European war.

The Russians now command the railway lines leading from Galicia and northeastern Hungary to Budapest and Vienna.

It is reported on good authority that the aeroplane America, built for the transatlantic flight, has been made a gift to the British government.

The Russian ambassador to Italy announced that Russia has conquered all of the crown land of Bukowina, seven-eighths of Galicia and one-fifth of Hungary.

The German gun fire at Tsingtao, according to a dispatch from Tokio, is slackening. A dispatch from Berlin, however, says that the Germans continue to hold out.

The house by a vote of 244 to 54 adopted the conference report on the Clayton anti-trust bill. This measure, the last on the anti-trust program, now goes to the president.

Delegates to the convention of the American Humane association in session at Atlantic City have entered a protest against the shipment of American horses into the European war zone.

ANTWERP MAKES BRAVE DEFENSE

Germans Slowly But Surely Beating It Down.

BELGIAN CAPITAL IS DOOMED

Little Doubt Remains That the City to Which King Albert's Government Fleed When Brussels Was Taken Is to Be Added to the List of Other Stout Belgian Cities That Fell Before the Kaiser's Giant Guns.

London, Oct. 9.—Antwerp is holding out with desperate bravery, but the fury of the German assault is beyond imagination. All that Belgium suffered hitherto is condensed in the frightful combat now at its height. The king and his ministers have announced that Antwerp will resist until every man of her defenders is dead at his duty. It may come to that.

London, Oct. 9.—The Germans seem slowly but surely to be overcoming the stubborn and heroic defense of Antwerp. There is little doubt here that the Belgian city will eventually be added to the list which contains now the names of Liege and Namur.

The Krupp guns that have devastated the greater part of Belgium and have nullified the utmost efforts of the Belgian army are hammering away continually at such of the first line of Antwerp forts as are still standing, and are being brought to bear on the inner forts and the city itself. The bombardment is carried on night and day, and as fresh breaches are made the German commanders rush ample forces of infantry to occupy the ground. It is estimated that no less than five German army corps are assembled there.

The terrible ordeal to which it has been subjected since Sept. 28, when the direct attack was begun, has not discouraged the little Belgian army. Still it fights inch by inch, advancing when it can, retiring only when it must. As the shells from the great guns which the Germans have set up on concrete bases scream through the air, exploding generally over the defending trenches, King Albert's soldiers bend to their work, and if they are driven back they make the enemy pay dearly for the advance.

Big Guns For Defense.

At this moment the exact situation in Antwerp is not established. There are reports here that the allies have sent to the city naval guns which will match, inch for inch of caliber and pound for pound for power, the Krupp giants. It is said that men to set up and operate these guns are already in Antwerp and that the artillery duel from now on will be conducted on even terms. The Belgians themselves had no cannon capable of standing off the Germans, so they appealed to England and to France, which have sent to their aid armament like to that which is thundering at the enemy along the heights of the Aisne in France.

At last reports the Germans had succeeded in getting across the River Nethe, which with the Scheldt and the Rupel, constitute the strongest protection to Antwerp. But that they have progressed far beyond the near bank of the Nethe does not appear certain. A Belgian army is said to be opposing their advance there and to be meeting with considerable success, since the Germans have not yet been able to change the location of their cannon to bear upon the operations in the new position they have assumed.

Losses Have Been Tremendous.

At Termonde on the Scheldt the Belgians are thus far able to prevent the crossing. The losses here as well as at the Nethe have been tremendous on both sides. The situation in many ways parallels that at Liege, with the exception that the Belgians in this case are in greater force and have more natural defenses, such as marshy ground, tracts that can be flooded, and small water courses, to depend on.

King Albert still remains with the army and will continue to do so until the last minute. There will be no difficulty in getting him and other officials safely to Ostend if the necessity comes.

The determination of the German attack on Antwerp indicates to military experts here that the Kaiser's generals have decided to establish a second line of defense in Belgium, running from Antwerp to Brussels, Namur and Metz. Upon this line the German army is expected to settle itself if driven from its present position in the north of France.

NOT A VERY SECURE BANK

Experience of Woman Who Feared Effects of War Scare.

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 9.—Withdrawing $400 from a bank because she was afraid that the European war would cause hard times in the United States and bring about bank failures, Mrs. Julia P. Demski hid the money in a bureau drawer when she was working in a local factory. Employees of an instalment house entered her home and confiscated the bureau because of an alleged two weeks' lapse in payments. Mrs. Demski has brought suit to recover the $400 said to have been taken with the bureau.

DEMOCRATS YELL FOR MORE HELP

Thirteenth District Committee Visits State Headquarters.

SAY OUTLOOK THERE IS BLACK

Marion County Grand Jury Begins Investigation of Last Democratic Legislature—Bull Moose Surrender Tomlinson Hall in Indianapolis So Democrats May Use It for Bryan Meeting.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 9.—The Democrats are so intensely anxious about the political situation in the Thirteenth district that they called a meeting of county chairmen of that district, and it was held in Indianapolis yesterday afternoon. Don M. Bechtel, of Goshen, district chairman, presided at the conference, which was attended by the following chairmen: A. J. Miller, Laporte; B. F. Leader, Goshen; Rudolph Ackerman, South Bend; August Knosman, Knox; L. C. Harley, Plymouth and Wm. Shafer, Warsaw.

The Thirteenth district has been calling loudly for help lately. The aid of the state headquarters was enlisted to send all the speakers possible into the district, to help save it. Along with Bechtel and the county chairman there were in the meeting members of the state committee and representatives of the Democratic state speakers' bureau.

It was decided that Governor Ralston should make all the following speeches in the Thirteenth: Warsaw, October 21, afternoon; Rochester, October 27, afternoon; Plymouth, October 28, afternoon; Michigan City, October 29, night.

Other Speakers Called to the Front

L. Ert Slack also will make speeches in the district, but the only meeting announced for him will be at Plymouth at night on October 28, following the speech of Governor Ralston. Vice President Marshall will make one speech at South Bend, but the date has not been announced. Senator Shively and Congressman Barnhart will speak at South Bend on the night of October 26. Other speakers who will be rushed to the Thirteenth district are Thomas Duncan, chairman of the public service commission; L. Ert Slack, Richard Milburn, candidate for attorney general and B. F. Deahl, of the Thirteenth district. It was announced also that speakers dates would soon be made for Laporte, Elkhart and Goshen.

The Marion county grand jury has begun its investigation of the actions of the legislature of 1913 in response to the letter sent by Governor Ralston to the prosecutor of Marion county urging that an investigation be made. The irregularities of that session, when Homer L. Cook, the Democratic candidate for secretary of state, was speaker of the house, have become so notorious that the Democrats realize the publication of the record has done them irreparable injury in the campaign. All over the state Democrats are saying that they will not support the ticket this year because of this disgusting record. This rebellion assumed such threatening proportions that something had to be done, and the plan for a grand jury investigation was adopted. Just what progress the grand jury has thus far made with the case is not known, but it is a fact that some witnesses have been summoned to appear.

Regarded Democratic Political Move.

The demand for an investigation is regarded lightly here, many persons regarding it as nothing more than a political move on the part of the Democratic machine.

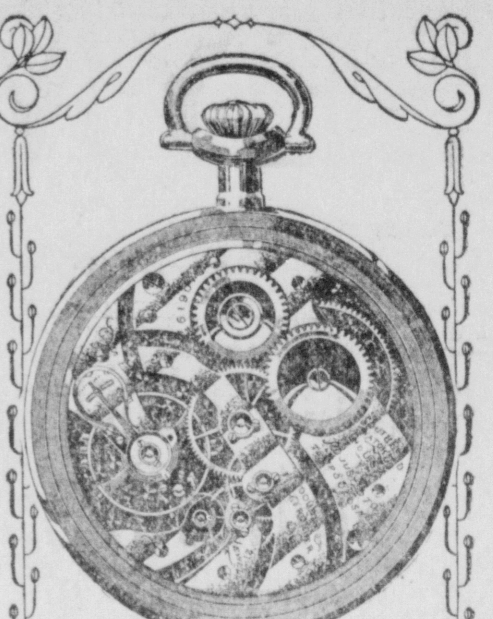

Will H. Hays, Republican state chairman, said today that he was delighted with the results of the registration of voters. "The Republican votes have been registered that will carry the state this fall," he said.

Reports continue to arrive telling about Democratic slumps in some of the strong Democratic counties. For instance, word has been received that the Democratic registration in Dearborn county is 400 short of the registration of two years ago. Dearborn is the home county of W. H. O'Brien, auditor of state, whom the Democratic state machine proposes to nominate for Governor in 1916.

It has all along been charged and it has become well established that the Progressives in Indiana are playing directly into the hands of the Democrats. It has been well established that these two parties are working together for the defeat of the Republican ticket, which would mean, of course, the election of the Democratic ticket. Further proof of this was found yesterday in the announcement by the Bull Moosers that the speech which Albert Beveridge was to make at Tomlinson hall, Indianapolis next Saturday night had been canceled.

The Bull Moosers engaged the hall several weeks ago. Then it was announced that W. J. Bryan would make a speech here on Saturday night also. When Tomlinson hall could not be obtained the Democrats said Bryan would speak in the rotunda of the state house.

But Tom Taggart came to town Sunday and one of the results of his visits was that the Bull Moosers canceled the Beveridge date and gave up Tomlinson hall so that Bryan could use it. The announcement was made that Bryan would speak in this city after in the month.

GREAT BRITAIN DECLARES WAR ON GERMANY'S TRADE

By United Press.

London, October 9.—Great Britain has declared war on Germany's trade and detailed plans are already underway to replace all articles bearing the familiar "Made in Germany" trade-mark with goods made by English manufacturers. All foreign consuls and representatives have been instructed to supply full details and samples of imports and exports of Germany.

Governors of the various British dominions have been supplied with samples of articles that can be manufactured in their territories and factories are being ordered into commission for the supply of this trade.

ARMY ENGINEER GAVE HIS LIFE TO SAVE COMPANIONS

Sergeant Placed Explosive Under Bridge to Keep Back Company of Germans.

By United Press.

Havre, France, October 9.—The individual bravery of the British army engineers is being lauded here by prisoners and wounded coming from the front. An instance of the courage of these bridge-builders is shown in the account of how an engineer-sergeant gave his life to save from annihilation a small body of English engineers who were protecting a bridge. The odds were against them and the Germans were on the point of crossing the bridge when the sergeant darted out under the German fire, set a quantity of high explosives under the first span and destroyed it. Forced to use a short fuse he had no time to escape and was blown to pieces.

To the Rescue in Blood Diseases

Just the Help Needed to Overcome Worst Troubles.

In S. S. S., the famous blood purifier, is the greatest natural repair crew known. It is an antidote for germs, that once let loose, multiply so fast that a definite disease is apparent over night. And yet so powerful is the influence of S. S. S. that like a vast army it spreads all through the blood, checks disease, opens up all the valves of escape and throws out disease through the lungs, kidneys, bladder, bowels and skin.

Do not become panic stricken if a rash or boils or eruptions inflame the skin. Nature is doing her best but Nature is at the same time calling for help, and in S. S. S. is just the kind of help Nature demands, for it is a pure vegetable remedy with an action that vigorously follows the blood channels and cleans and repairs as it goes along. In every community are people who know this to be true. They have used S. S. S. and are blood clean, through and through.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. today at any drug store. Drive out those destructive germs that cause skin eruptions, sore throat, swollen glands, blood risings, painful rheumatic joints, chronic bronchitis, and most all conditions of disease. Read the folder around the bottle that tells about the great work being done to assist sufferers. If you would know more about the blood and its treatment, write for special book to The Swift Specific Co., 52 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

HOW WE HELP THE RETAILER

Every time this newspaper prints the advertising of a standard article it is helping the retailers who handle that product.

It is to the interest of retailers that a newspaper should increase its general advertising because it stimulates business at their stores.

People like to see the goods they read about in the newspapers.

If price and quality suits them they will buy.

Every sale means a customer and a profit to the retailer.

Retailers help their home newspaper and help themselves when they push these goods.

It is co-operation profitable alike to the dealer, the manufacturer, the newspaper, and the consumer.

MOTHERS' PENSION LEGISLATION PRAISED

Prof. Robert H. Gault Makes Report to Municipal Crime Commission.

By United Press.
Chicago, Oct. 9.—Mothers' pension legislation checks juvenile delinquency and operates to prevent crime. Prof. Robert H. Gault of Northwestern University, editor of the Journal of Criminal Law and Criminology, today reported to the municipal crime commission for which he has conducted an investigation for several months.

"Juvenile delinquency is checked or entirely disappears where the family is enabled to support itself without its being necessary for the mother to be away from her children at work all day," reported Prof. Gault. "Mother love and mother care are the best cure for juvenile delinquency and therefore a powerful preventative of crime."

Prof. Gault based his conclusions on a study of two groups of 100 families each. One group had come under the benefits of the mothers' pension act and the other obtained sporadic relief from the county poor agent.

A tabulation of data in the families benefiting from the mothers' pensions showed that 97 per cent. of the families are getting along decently on the pensions; that 3 per cent are better off than they were during the father's lifetime, and that in 74 per cent the probation officers have noticed improvements. In eleven of the 100 families, there was delinquency when the pensions were granted. There is delinquency in eight families now, but the investigation showed that in a majority of instances this was due to the return to the home of dependent children when the pensions was granted.

The other group of 100 families, selected from a similar neighborhood, with the same economic status and with the same number of children in each family, but dependent upon the county agent for irregular relief, showed a much higher percentage of delinquents and home conditions were generally lower, Prof. Gault reported.

LORIMER INDICTED BY FEDERAL GRAND JURY

Misapplication of Bank Funds Alleged.

Chicago, Oct. 9.—Former United States Senator William Lorimer has been indicted by a federal grand jury on a charge of misapplication of funds of the LaSalle Street National Bank, the forerunner of the LaSalle Trust and Savings bank, which is now in the receiver's hands.

Mr. Lorimer was president of the national bank and president of the state institution, into which it was reorganized under the Illinois state laws.

J. P. Gallagher, associated with Lorimer in the Lorimer & Gallagher Construction company, also was indicted, charged with aiding Lorimer in the misapplication of the funds. The indictments were returned before Federal Judge Carpenter.

Other indictments were also returned against C. B. Munday, vice president of the bank; Charles G. Fox as cashier, and Thomas McDonald, assistant cashier, charged with making false entries.

Judge Carpenter fixed the bonds of Lorimer at $15,000 and those of Gallagher at $10,000. The three other defendants are now at liberty on bonds fixed when they were originally indicted.

MRS. W. J. BRYAN ENDORSES SUFFRAGE

Wife of Secretary of State Denies That She is Opposed to Equal Suffrage.

By United Press.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 9.—Mrs. William Jennings Bryan, as well as her husband, is in favor of woman suffrage, and she has issued a denial of the report that she was opposed to the votes-for-women cause. After Secretary of State Bryan's declaration in favor of equal suffrage movement, Mrs. Bryan made the following statement, a copy of which she sent to the Nebraska equal suffrage association:

"I am not an anti-suffragist and have never attended any anti-suffragist meetings. I have been a firm believer in suffrage without sex qualifications for twenty-five years, and I earnestly wish success to the equal suffrage campaign in Nebraska this fall. Our eldest daughter has been an interested voter in Colorado; our youngest, a member of the equal suffrage league of the Nebraska state university."

SUFFERED TWENTY-ONE YEARS FINALLY FOUND RELIEF

Having suffered for twenty-one years with a pain in my side, I finally have found relief in Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. Injections of morphine were my only relief for short periods of time. I became so sick that I had to undergo a surgical operation in New Orleans, which benefited me for two years. When the same pain came back one day I was so sick that I gave up hopes of living. A friend advised me to try your Swamp-Root and I at once commenced using it. The first bottle did me so much good that I purchased two more bottles. I am now on my second bottle and am feeling like a new woman. I passed a gravel stone as large as a big red bean and several small ones. I have not had the least feeling of pain since taking your Swamp-Root and I feel it my duty to recommend this great medicine to all suffering humanity.

Gratefully yours,
MRS. JOSEPH CONSTANCE, Rapides Parish, La.

JUDGE JOHN M. LEWIS GIVEN
HANDSOME K. OF P. CHARM

Gift is Presented in Appreciation of Services of the Retiring Grand Chancellor.

Judge John M. Lewis, who has just completed his term as Grand Chancellor of the Indiana Knights of Pythias Lodge, was presented with a handsome and valuable charm. The charm is a K. of P. badge in the center of which is a large diamond set in platinum.

The charm is the most valuable gift that has ever been presented to a retiring Grand Chancellor of this state and is one of the most costly ever made. While serving in that high office Judge Lewis advanced the K. of P. cause and under his leadership the lodge has made rapid progress. He was succeeded by Robert A. Brown, of Franklin.

THE VOLUNTEERS.

[Mexican war—1846-8.]

THE volunteers! The volunteers!
I dream, as in the bygone years,
I hear again their stirring cheers
And see their banners shine.
What time the yet unconquered north

Pours to the wars her legions forth,
For many a wrong to strike a blow
With mailed hand at Mexico.
The volunteers! Ah, where are they Who bade the hostile surges stay
When the black forts of Monterey Frowned on their dauntless line?
When, undismayed amid the shock
Of war, like Cerro Gordo's rock
They stood or rushed more madly on Than tropic tempest o'er San Juan.

On Angostura's crowded field
Their shattered columns scorned to yield
And wildly yet defiance pealed
Their rushing batteries' throats,
And echoed then the rifle crack,
As deadly as when on the track
Of flying foe, of yore, its voice
Bade Orleans dark eyed girls rejoice.

Bleat with the roar of guns and bombs,
How grandly from the dim past comes
The roll of their victorious drums,
Their bugles' joyous notes.
When over Mexico's proud towers
And the fair valley's storied bowers,
Fit recompense of toil and scars,
In triumph waved their flag of stars.

Ah, comrades of your own tried troop,
Whose honor ne'er to shame might stoop.
Of lion heart and eagle swoop,
But you alone remain!
On all the rest has fallen the hush
Of death, the men whose battle rush
Was wild as sun loosed torrent's flow
On Orizaba's crest of snow.

The volunteers! The volunteers!
God send us peace through all our years,
But if the cloud of war appears We'll see them once again.
From broad Ohio's peaceful side,
From where the Maumee pours its tide,
From storm lashed Erie's wintry shore,
Shall spring the volunteers once more.
—General William Haines Lytle.

FATHER.

HE was not the kind of a father that you read about in books;
He wasn't long on language, and he wasn't strong on looks;
He was not the sort of father that you hear about in plays;
He was just a human father with a human father's ways.

NO, he never balked at working, but
NO, when he was through it once Right down to the grass was father, with the children, doing stunts.
All of us would pile upon him, and he'd welcome all the pack,
But I'm wondering after play time did we stay there—on his back?

WASN'T strong on dissipation; said his
"gambol on the green"
Was to fill the platter faster than the kids
could lick it clean,
And the next best game he knew of was an equal one to beat.
It was keeping leather covers up to the supply of feet.

ALWAYS on the job was father, plugging steadylike and strong, Never making any noise, but helping all his little world along.
And to think—Lord, ain't it funny you can see things years and years And yet never know you've seen them till your eyes are blind with tears?

QUIT his job one day and left us, smiling as he went away.
Eulogy seems all so foolish. What can anybody say?
Seemed like even in his leaving he was saving some one bother,
For the one word on the granite which lies over him is "Father."
—Edmund Vance Cook.

SHINE ON!

SHINE ON, Mr. Sunshine!
Thunder, beat yo' drum!
But don't burn de worl' up
Till winter time has come!
Dat's when de heat'll do us good—W'en all de worl' is needin' wood!

SHINE ON, Mr. Sunshine,
All along de line!
You de one dat show us
How ter rise 'n' shine!
But keep yo' fire fer de soul
Dat's 'way behind on winter coal!
—Frank L. Stanton.

THE DRUM.

I HATE the drum's discordant sound,
Parading round and round and round.
To thoughtless youth it pleasure yields
And lures from cities and from fields,
To sell their liberty for charms
Of tawdry lace and glittering arms.
And, when Ambition's voice commands,
To march and fight and fall in foreign lands.

I hate the drum's discordant sound,
Parading round and round and round.
To me it speaks of ravaged plains,
And burning towns and ruined swains,
And mangled limbs and dying groans,
And widows' tears and orphans' moans,
And all that misery's hand bestows
To fill the catalogue of human woes.
—John Scott.

NIGHT.

THE day, with slow, reluctant feet,
Has slipped behind the purple hills,
And night steals out, with laughter sweet,
To drop her stars in limpid rills.

OUT where the cool brown sand bars lie
The sea creeps in, a limpid thing,
Trailing in long, low, aimless sweep
Its white foam, like a wounded wing.

HIGH overhead the frozen moon,
Like some pale ghost, takes noiseless flight—
A troubled spirit, ever doomed
In penance thus to haunt the night.
—Selected.

SONG OF THE SEASICK.

A LIFE on the ocean wave
Is a life that is full of gloom.
For days you dwell
In a narrow cell
Like a half sized furnished room.

IT'S better, they say, than jail,
But this thought is sure to cross
Your tortured soul
As you rock and roll:
A jail can't pitch and toss.
—Washington Star.

QUALITY.

THE nervous, shrinking man the people may
A coward lack; the babbler, man of might,
Ten thousand carry swords, but who's the knight?
Dark, friend, the claws alone do not make birds of prey!
—Translated From the Arabic.

In the News and Out of the Ordinary

Long Island, in Portland Harbor, now sends in its fire alarms by wireless.

When John Canfield was sent to a hospital at Mendocino, Cal., his landlady held his wooden leg for room rent.

Manager of a Bristol (Pa.) distillery has put on guard as night watchman a large black bear which was presented to him.

A farmer of Jacksonwald, Pa., has an old tree from the side of which is growing a big red apple direct from the bark, without branch or twig.

The clerk of the recorder's court in Mill Valley, Cal., recently filed the following case: "George Washington v.
Christopher Columbus—landlord's action to recover rent."

Following a cow which had developed a habit of disappearing every morning and coming home in the evening without her usual supply of milk, James Wilson of Greensburg, Pa., discovered that the cow was raising a motherless fawn.

WORLD'S SERIES OUTLOOK SEEN BY BASEBALL EXPERT

How the Boston Braves Rate With the Philadelphia Athletics.

The contest for the baseball championship of the world makes an article by an expert in the New York Times of especial interest.

The situation which confronts the prophets in this year's world's series, says the writer, is difficult and uncertain. Inasmuch as the Philadelphia Athletics of the American league out-class the Boston of the National league very decisively as far as comparison of past performances is concerned. The angle which increases the uncertainty is that Stallings' sensational Braves are an unknown, untried proposition as far as world's series play is concerned.

While the Athletics outclass the Braves in batting and base running, the Boston players have accomplished a remarkable achievement. They have made a meteoric rise from last place to first. They have acquired the "winning habit." The question is, "Will this winning habit carry them high and dry through the slugging Mack men?"
—Considering the matter coolly and cautiously on what baseball fans call the "dope," the Athletics should win with little trouble.

On the other hand, with three really remarkable pitchers like James, Rudolph and Tyler going at their best, the batting prowess of the Athletics may receive a severe setback.

But the same thing was said in 1910 about the Cub pitchers, Brown, Overall and Pfeister. Yet the Mack-men pounded them into oblivion without trouble. They did the same thing in 1911 to the Giant pitching staff, when Mathewson, Marquard and Tesreau were supposed to be at the zenith of their pitching form. A heavy hitting club is always dangerous. It is apt to hit all kinds of pitching at all times.

WORLDWIDE LABOR INQUIRY.

Object of Rockefeller Foundation Is to Seek Cure For "Bitter Enmities."

A worldwide investigation of the relations of labor and capital with the object of determining the causes of "bitter enmities" and searching out the remedy is to be undertaken by the Rockefeller foundation, which John D.
Rockefeller endowed with $100,000,000.
The scope of the inquiry is to be without limit and the foundation trustees have chosen William Lyon Mackenzie King, former Canadian minister of labor, to direct the work.

In announcing the plan given out the trustees say that they realize that the foundation is "attempting to grapple with the most complicated question of modern times," but hope by a gradual and systematic approach to it to win
"the co-operation, not alone of employers and workmen, of the industrial organizations, of individuals and institutions interested in social reform, but also of the universities and governments throughout the world."

"Half Dressed Girls" Close School.
Three thousand pupils of the Lynn (Mass.) schools enjoyed a holiday because Superintendent Peaslee "didn't want to subject half dressed girls to taking severe colds" while some of the school boilers were out of commission.
"If girls would not come to school half dressed it would not be necessary for us to close the building on account of the cold weather," said the superintendent.

REPUBLICAN HEADQUARTERS IS A VERY CHEERFUL SPOT

Heavy Gloom Cast Around Democratic Machine Since Registration Reports are Heard.

(Special to Seymour Republican)

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 9.—Republican state headquarters in the Hotel Severin, is about the most cheerful spot in the whole state of Indiana these days and for the same reason the headquarters of the Tom Taggart-Crawford Fairbanks organization, masquerading under the banner of Democracy, is just about as lively as a country graveyard at the hour of midnight in the dark of the moon.

Registration reports from the various counties of the state have done the work. Untold thousands of law loving Democrats, thoroughly disgusted over the humiliating work of the "organization" and determined not to support a ticket headed by a man with such a public record as that of Homer L. Cook, who was speaker of the 1913 House of Representatives when laws were written into the statute books that never passed the legislature, refused to register and consequently cannot vote at the November election. Not in a single county in the state was the full Democratic strength registered.

On the other hand, Republicans and independents who will support the Republican ticket this year, qualified as voters by registering. The heavy registration is accepted by political observers of all shades of political belief as an indication of a coming Republican victory. For months the Republican leaders have contended that a heavy registration would mean a Republican landslide. In any number of counties the registration this year is far in excess of that of 1912.

It was estimated tonight that in one single ward in the city of Indianapolis that 100 Democrats declined to register. Members of the Republican state committee, who attended a meeting of the governing body of the Republican party today, brought to Indianapolis reports of heavy Republican registration and light Democratic registration. In one township in the Second district 400 Democrats declined to register. In one county of the Fourth district 650 Democrats did not register. The reports from these places said that practically every bit of the Republican strength was placed on the registration books.
In one precinct in a county in the Ninth district 76 Democrats failed to register while every Republican voter but four qualified. In other precinct in an adjoining county 61

Democrats did not register while all Republicans but three placed their names on the official records.

ALLIES FEEL CONFIDENT OF SUCCESS IN GREAT BATTLE

Official Statement Said the Center of the Long Battle Line Remained Unchanged.

By United Press.
Paris, Oct. 9.—Belief that the pendulum of success in the Battle of the Aisne is now swinging forward favorably to the Allies was universal here today. The war official statement was most brief. It showed the center of a long battle line was unchanged but it carried confirmation of the report that the Allies can hold the line in the center and at the same time have sufficient forces to hold the German wing.

A crumbling in the line at either end would mean retreat in the center.
Military experts are confident that this is impending. Pressing back the German forces in the neighborhood of Verdun was regarded as particularly significant. The French artillery is proving itself more than a match for the German guns in this section.

DISPOSITION OF TROOPS IS WITHOUT A CHANCE

Fighting Continues on the Left of the Woever Region With an Artillery Duel.

By United Press.
Paris, Oct. 9.—No change in the general situation was the official announcement in the 3 o'clock statement issued this afternoon. It was stated that the disposition of the troops remains almost without change. Fighting continues on the left of the Woever region and an artillery duel is in progress.

Thursday night, however, the nurses and Miss Edna Doane received contributions at the "Made-in-Jackson-County Tent" and added a substantial sum to the amount already collected.

The Ladies Auxiliary is very grateful to the young ladies who assisting on tag day and also to the public for the liberal manner in which they responded. are worn by stout and medium women. Their great strength and elastic freedom eliminates, also, the feeling of heaviness.

These characteristics belong exclusively to Rengo Belt corsets. They are the direct achievement of the famous patented Rengo Belt feature, which has proven its worth by over five years of growing popularity. Inserts of elastic enable the strength of the garment to be more perfectly applied and actual reduction is thus accomplished with comfort. The boning is of double watch-spring steels—very pliable but extra strong—and is guaranteed not to rust. The crowning features of Rengo Belt corsets are their thoroughly strong materials and tailoring—without which all other reducing corsets fail.

Sunday School Lesson

October 11 (Fourth Quarter) Lesson 2
THE LAST SUPPER

GOLDEN TEXT:—As often as ye eat this bread, and drink this cup, ye proclaim the Lord's death till he come. 1 Cor. 11:26.

The record of this last evening on which He kept the passover and instituted what we call the Lord's supper is found more or less fully in each of the four gospels. Luke says that He sent Peter and John, saying, "Go and prepare us the passover, and that they said unto Him, 'Where wilt thou that we prepare?' (Luke xxii, 8, 9.) So should we ever ask Him concerning all our goings, and there is another question we should ask Him concerning all our doings, "Lord, what wilt Thou have me to do?" (Acts ix, 6), for we have no wisdom concerning anything, but Prov. iii, 5, 6; Ps. xxxii, 8; Isa. xxx, 21, are a very great comfort. They needed no instruction to reach the city, so He said, "Behold, when ye are entered into the city there shall a man meet you bearing a pitcher of water" (Luke xxii, 10).

They were to follow him into a house and say to the good man of the house, "The Master saith, where is the guest chamber where I shall eat the passover with my disciples?" (Verses 13, 14; Luke xxii, 10, 11.) It does not seem that the man bearing the water vessel knew what he was doing, but that he all unconsciously guided the men to the right house.

We are often unconsciously guiding people rightly or wrongly, for "Doth He not see my ways and count all my steps?" (Job xxxi, 4.)

The owner of the house must have been a disciple, for he understood and showed them the upper room furnished. Thus they found as He had said unto them (verse 16; see also Luke xix, 32).

So shall we always find it to be just as He has said. The words translated "guest chamber" are found in only one other place besides this incident, and that is in Luke ii, 7, "No room for them in the inn." There they made ready the passover. What a privilege and honor and pleasure to make anything ready for Him! Do you find it so? As He sat down with them in the evening He said that He had greatly desired to eat this passover with them before He suffered, but that He would not eat it again until fulfilled in the kingdom of God (Luke xxii, 15-18). He Himself is our passover sacrificed for us, but as there was a great deliverance of Israel from Egypt at the first passover there will be a greater deliverance of Israel at His second coming to set up His kingdom (1 Cor. v, 7; Jer. xxiii, 7, 8). After lesson verse 17 and this portion from Luke there should come in the incident of the feet washing, found only in John xiii, by which He taught them humbly to serve one another and the necessity of constant cleansing from earth's defilement. Then as they ate the passover He said that one of them would betray Him and it had been good for that man if he had never been born. No one seemed to suspect Judas Iscariot, for they said one by one, "Is it I?" Simon Peter asked John, who was leaning on Jesus' bosom, to ask Jesus who it was. He replied, "He it is to whom I shall give a sop when I have dipped it." He gave the sop to Judas Iscariot, and then Satan entered into him.

Then Jesus said to him, "That thou doest, do quickly."

Judas went immediately out, and it was night and has been night with him ever since. Before he went out he said, "Master, is it I?" And Jesus said unto him, "Thou hast said" (verses 18-21; Matt. xxvi, 25; John xiii, 25-30). According to our lesson, there followed the institution of the supper, by which, according to 1 Cor. xi, 26, we show the Lord's death till He come. The bread represents His body given for us, and by believing we eat Himself as is explained in John vi, 47, 54, where in the one verse eternal life is the result of believing on Him, and in the other it is the result of eating His flesh and drinking His blood, so that eating His flesh and drinking His blood is just believing on Him or, according to John i, 12, receiving Him.

He said again in this connection that He would not drink any more of the fruit of the vine till he should drink it new in the kingdom of God.

He also spoke of appointing to the twelve (some one taking the place of Judas Iscariot) a kingdom that they might eat and drink at His table in His kingdom and sit on thrones judging the twelve tribes of Israel (Luke xxii, 28-30). Compare Matt. xix, 28.

While He had before Him, knowing all things, the sufferings of Gethsemane and Calvary, they were selfishly talking of who should be the greatest, and Simon was saying that he was ready to go with Him to prison and to death, not knowing his utter weakness nor that Satan was asking for him to sift him (Luke xxii, 24-34).

In His reference to swords He seems to me to be saying to them that if they could not trust Him when invisibly as well as when visibly with them they had better buy swords and take care of themselves. When He said that two swords were enough it is evident that He did not mean that each should have one.

Connect John xiii, 36-38, and xiv, 1, as if there were no chapter divisions and see how marvelous it is.

RIVAL BALL PLAYERS EAGER

Bitter and Acrimonious Bickerings of the Leaders of the Two Championship Aspirants Have Injected an Element Into World's Series That Has Stimulated Every Player to Do His Mightiest For His Loved Chief.

Philadelphia, Oct. 9.—Many interesting complications, among them the feud between George Stallings and Connie Mack, promise to make today's opening battle of the 1914 world's championship series between the Braves and Athletics one of the most bitterly fought in all baseball history. Each team fairly worships its leader and each will go onto the field prepared to risk life and limb to exonerate its chief in the eyes of the sporting public.

But throughout all the bitterness and acrimonies of the bickering of the leaders, the great following of the national game congregated here from every nook and cranny of the republic has not for one moment lost sight of the main issue in question—the supremacy of the respective teams and leaders on the field of play. Until that potent matter is definitely decided the fan may egg on the belligerents and curse the ticket speculators, but he will nevertheless keep his weather eye peeled for an opportunity to witness the all-absorbing struggles.

The Opposing Pitchers.

Stallings and Mack tore loose today with their strongest possible combinations in an effort to make the humiliation of the vanquished as painful as possible. It has been known for some time that Mack had groomed his great Indian, Bender, for the first shock of the Braves' attack. The fact that the sky is cloudy and lowering made the redskin's selection a dead certainty, for a dark day enhances the terrific speed of the aboriginal.

By the same token Rudolph was bound to oppose the redoubtable Bender. The Indian is recognized as the toughest one-game man in the American league. The greatest hope of stopping him is to pit against him a man possessed of Bender's cool deliberation under fire; one who will retain his nerve and courage regardless of the most acute situations. Such a pitcher, according to the declarations of Stallings, is Dick Rudolph.

Braves Facing Big Job.

Rudolph, the Braves say, is as heady a twirler as Christy Mathewson and possessed of almost as wonderful control. He has the absolute faith of every member of the team, which is a great deal under the circumstances. The Braves on the whole are young and inexperienced in world's series matters, yet they must face an aggregation that has stopped all comers in their three starts of the last four years. James and Tyler, who shared the limelight with Rudolph during the Braves' sensational climb from the cellar to the championship, are more flighty than Rudolph, though they have as much natural ability. For this reason Rudolph is the popular choice of the Braves, who figure that if Dick cannot stop the mighty Indian nobody can.

Prior to Smith's injury supporters of the world's champions had no difficulty in finding backers of the Braves at 5 to 7. These odds have lengthened out until now the forces of Mack are 2 to 1 favorites in what little wagering is being done on the series. Boston sympathizers demand 2 to 1 for their money.

Mullendore Jury Obtained.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 9.—A jury was obtained in the Riley Mullendore murder trial and court was adjourned until next Tuesday. On Christmas night, 1913, at the home of Mullendore's mother, Grover C. Cook, a farm hand, received injuries from which he died next day. Mullendore will plead self-defense, alleging that Cook had threatened the lives of Mullendore's brother and mother.

Closing in on Thorn.

Petrograd, Oct. 9.—The Russians have driven back the Germans from Wloclowski, in Russian Poland, thirty-five miles outwest of Thorn, in East Poland, and have fortified themselves within a few miles of the fortress of Thorn.

DESTINY MAY FIND USE FOR WATERLOO

Allies Rushing Reinforcements to Antwerp.

Paris, Oct. 9.—The reports of the government all point to the fact that the allies have now strength enough to maintain an unbroken front in northern France, while employing strong independent forces to sweep around the German west flank, carry the war back into Belgium and compel the Germans to fight for their hold on Brussels and the country toward Antwerp.

General Joffre's strategy is developing slowly but with apparent sureness. Within the past few days the Germans obviously realized the danger to which they were exposed by the encircling movement. By the time the allied cavalry had penetrated to the vicinity of Douai the Germans brought up reinforcements from wherever they could be obtained. Starting a powerful flanking operation of their own, their cavalry advance was temporarily successful, but General Joffre's latest reports indicate French and British cavalry have checked the Germans and have even been able to throw them back in some places.

While the campaign may be prolonged, it is possible that a powerful stroke by the allies in the north of France may compel a general German retreat in the near future to prevent the allies from swerving past their west flank and recovering Belgium. There is hope that General Joffre may yet find means of compelling the Germans to raise the siege of Antwerp and withdraw from France in order to save their all-important positions in Belgium. Destiny might yet find a second use for the field of Waterloo. It is known that every effort is being made to hurry reinforcements to Antwerp.

THE NEWEST PERILS OF WAR

Siege of Antwerp Develops Into Awful Carnage.

Ostend, Oct. 9.—The siege of Antwerp, the battle for "arrow at the heart of England," is not of soldiers against soldiers. It is Krupp and Zeppelins against men.

Three Zeppelins, cruising high above the forts while Krupp cannon never ceased bombarding, flung bombs that fired oil tanks at Hoboken and threatened the defenders with the newest perils of war. Yesterday these great air craft dropped bombs that killed twenty persons and wounded many more.

King Albert remains with his troops and will encourage their resolution until the last hour. Then if the road to escape to Ostend still remains open and mere bravery cannot prevent the occupation of the city, the king will attempt to lead his army to Ostend and to save it to the allied cause. But the Belgians, literally maddened by their misfortunes and German remorselessness, will exact a terrible price for the loss of Antwerp. Already the German losses in killed and wounded have been staggering, but they have gone forward under cover of their great guns as they went at Liege and Namur.

CHAPTER XIV.

Tea on the Veranda Again.

It was more irritating than ever for Mrs. Galland to keep pace with her daughter's inconsistencies. Here was Marta saying coolly:

"Unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's! We have our property, our home to protect. Perhaps the Grays have come to stay for good, so graciousness is our only weapon. We cannot fight a whole army single-handed."

"You have found that out, Marta?" said Mrs. Galland.

"We have four rooms in the baron's tower and a kitchen stove," Marta proceeded. "With Minna we can make ourselves very comfortable and leave the house to the staff."

"The Gallands in their gardeners' quarters! The staff of the Grays in ours! Your father will turn in his grave!" Mrs. Galland exclaimed.

"But, mother, it is not quite agreeable to think of three women living in the same house with a score of strange men!" Marta persisted.

"I had not thought of that, Marta. Of course, it would be abominable!" agreed Mrs. Galland, promptly capitulating where a point of propriety was involved.

When Marta informed the officer—the same one who had rung the doorbell on his second visit—of the family's decision he appeared shocked at the idea of eviction that was implied. But, secretly pleased at the turn of events, he hastened to apologize for war's brutal necessities, and Marta's complaisance led him to consider himself something of a diplomatist. Yes, more than ever he was convinced of the wisdom of an invader ringing doorbells.

Meanwhile, the service-corps men had continued their work until now there was no vestige of war in the grounds that labor could obliterate; and masons had come to repair the walls of the house itself and plasterers to renew the broken ceilings.

All this Marta regarded in a kind of charmed wonder that an invader could be so considerate. Her manner with the officers in charge of preparations had the simplicity and ease which a woman of twenty-seven, who is not old-maidish because she is not afraid of a single future, may employ as a serene hostess. She frequently asked if there were good news.

"Yes," was the uniform reply. An unexpected setback here or resistance there, but progress, nevertheless. But she learned, too, that the first two days' fighting along the frontier had cost the Grays fifty thousand casualties.

"In order to make an omelet you must break eggs!" she remarked.

"Spoken like a true soldier—like a member of the staff!" was the reply.

In her constraint and detachment they realized her conscious appreciation of the fact that in earlier times her people had been for the Browns; but in her flashes of interest in the progress of the war, flashes from a woman's unimpaired mind, they judged that her heart was with the Grays. And why not? Was it not natural that a woman with more than her share of intellectual perception should be on the right side? From her associations it was not to be expected that she would make an outright declaration of apostasy. This would destroy the value and the attractiveness of her conversation. Reverence for the past, for a father who had fought for the Browns, against her own convictions, made her attitude appear singularly and delicately correct.

The war was a week old—a week which had developed other tangents and traps than La Tir—on the morning that the first installment of junior officers came to occupy the tables and desks. Where the family portraits had hung in the dining-room were now big maps dotted with brown and gray flags. Portable field cabinets with sectional maps on a large scale were arranged around the walls of the drawing-room. In what had been the lounge-room of the old days of Galland prosperity, the refrain of half a dozen telegraph instruments made melody with the clicking of typewriters. Cooks and helpers were busy in the kitchen; for the staff were to live like gentlemen; they were to have their morning baths, their comfortable beds, and regular meals. No twinge of indigestion or of rheumatism from exposure was to interfere with the working of their precious intellectual processes. No detail of assistance would be lacking to save any bureaucratic head time and labor. The bedrooms were apportioned according to rank—that of the master awaited the master; the best servant's bedroom awaited Francois, his valet.

When Bouchard, the chief of intelligence, who fought the battle of wits and spies against Lanstron, came, two hours before Westerling was due, the last of the staff except Westerling and his personal aide had arrived. Bouchard, with his iron-gray hair, bushy eyebrows, strong, aquiline nose, and hawk-like eyes, his mouth hidden by a bristly mustache, was lean and saturnine, and he was loyal. No jealous thought entered his mind at having to serve a man younger than himself. He did not serve a personality; he served a chief of staff and a profession. The score of words which escaped him as he looked over the arrangements were all of directing criticism and bitten off sharply, as if he regretted that he had to waste breath in communicating even a thought.

"I tell nothing, but you tell me everything!" said Bouchard's hawk eyes. He was old-fashioned; he looked his part, which was one of the many points of difference between him and Lanstron as a chief of intelligence.

It lacked one minute to four when Hedworth Westerling, chief of staff in name as well as power now, alighted from the gray automobile that turned in at the Galland drive. His Excellency had not occupied his new headquarters as soon as he expected, but this could have no influence on results. If he had lost fifty thousand men on the first two days and two hundred thousand since the war had begun, should he allow this to disturb his well-being of body or mind? His well-being of body and mind meant the ultimate saving of lives.

Confidence was reflected in Westerling's bearing and in his smile of command as he passed through the staff rooms, Turcas and Bouchard in his train, with tacit approval of the arrangements. Finally, Turcas, now vice-chief of staff, and the other chiefs awaited his pleasure in the library, which was to be his sanctum. On the massive seventeenth-century desk lay a number of reports and suggestions. Westerling ran through them with accustomed swiftness of sifting and then turned to his personal aide.

"Tell Francois that I will have tea on the veranda."

From the fact that he took with him the papers that he had laid aside, subordinate generals, with the gift of unspoken directions which is a part of their profession, understood that he meant to go over the subjects requiring special attention while he had tea.

"Everything is going well—well!" he added.

"Well!" ran the unspoken communication of confidence through the staff. So well that His Excellency was calmly taking tea on the veranda! For the indefatigable Turcas the detail; for Westerling the front of Jove.

He had told Marta only two weeks ago that he should see her again if war came; and war had come. With the inviting prospect of a few holiday moments in which to continue the interview that had been abruptly concluded in a hotel reception-room, he started down the terrace steps. Above the second terrace he saw a crown of woman's hair—hair of jet abundance, shading a face that brought familiar completeness to the scene. Their glances met where the path ended at the second terrace flight; hers shot with a beam of restrained and questioning good humor that spoke at least a truce to the invader.

"You called sooner than I expected," she said in a note of equivocal pleasantry.

"Or I," he rejoined with a shade of triumph, the politest of triumph. He was a step above her, her head on a level with the pocket of his blouse. His square shoulders, commanding height, and military erectness were thus emphasized, as was her own feminine slightness.

"I want to thank you," she said. "As becomes a soldier, your forethought was expressed in action. It was the promptness of the men you sent to look after the garden which saved the uprooted plants before they were past recovery."

"I wished it for your sake and somewhat for my own sake to be the same that it was in the days when I used to call," he said graciously. "Tea was from four to five, do you remember? Will you join me? I have just ordered it."

A generous, pleasant conqueror, this! No one knew better than Westerling how to be one when he chose. He was something of an actor. Leaders

NEW TYPE OF GERMAN AIRSHIP

This is a modified form of Zeppelin which has been extensively used.

of men of his type usually are. "Why, yes. Very gladly!" she assented with no undue cordiality and no undue constraint, quite as if there were no war.

Neutrality could not be better impersonated, he thought, than in the even cleaving of her lips over the words. They seemed to say that a storm had come and gone and a new set of masters had taken the place of the old. As they approached the veranda Francois was placing the tea things.

"Just like the old days, isn't it?" he exclaimed with his first slip, convinced that the officers' commissary supplied excellent tea in the field.

"Yes, for the moment—if we forget the war!" she replied, and looked away, preoccupied, toward the landscape.

If we forget the war! She bore on the words rather grimly. The change that he had noted between the Marta of the hotel reception-room and the Marta of the moment was not altogether the work of ten years. It had developed since she was in the capital. In these three weeks war had been brought to her door. She had been under heavy fire. Yet this subject of the war was the one which he, as an invader, considered himself bound to avoid.

"We do forget it at tea, don't we?" he asked.

"At least we need not speak of it!" she replied.

"I am staying tonight. I was going to ask if you wouldn't remain on the veranda while I go over these papers. It—it would be very cozy and pleasant."

"Why, yes," she agreed with evident pleasure.

Turcas came, in answer to Westerling's ring. The orders and suggestions on the table seemed to be the product of this lath of a man, the vice-chief, but a lath of steel, not wood, who appeared a runner trained for a race of intellects in the scratch class. One by one, almost perfunctorily,

Westerling gave his assent as he passed the papers to Turcas; while Turcas's dry voice, coming from between a narrow opening of the thin lips, gave his reasons with a rapid-fire's precision in answer to his chief's inquiries.

With each order somewhere along that frontier some unit of a great organism would respond. The reserves from this position would be transferred to that; such a position would be felt out before dark by a reconnaissance in force, however costly; the rapid-fire of the 19th Division would be transferred to the 20th; despite the 37th Brigade's losses, it would still form the advance; General So-and-So would be superseded after his failure of yesterday; Colonel So-and-So would take his place as acting major-general; more care must be exercised in recommendations for bronze crosses, lest their value so depreciate that officers and men would lack incentive to win them.

Marta was having a look behind the scenes at the fountainhead of great events. Power! power! The absolute power of the soldier in the saddle, with premier and government and all the institutions of peace only a dim background for the processes of war! Opposite her was a man who could make and unmake not only generals but even the destinies of peoples. By every sign he enjoyed his power for its own sake. There must be a chief of the five millions, which were as a moving forest of destruction, and here was the chief, his strength reflected in the strong muscles of his short neck as he turned his head to listen to Turcas. Marta recalled the contrast between Westerling and Lanstron as they faced each other after the wreck of the aeroplane ten years ago; the iron invincibility of the elder's sturdy, mature figure and the alert, high-strung invincibility of the slighter figure of the younger man.

COLORED MAN ALLEGED TO HAVE GRABBED WATCH

Clarence Edwards Charged With Stealing Watch From Lawrence Dixon, of Ft. Ritner.

Clarence Edwards, colored, of this city, is being held by the police on a charge of grand larceny. It is alleged that he attempted to steal a watch from Lawrence Dixon, of Ft. Ritner, who came here Thursday night to attend the fall festival.

Dixon was standing near the corner of Second street and Indianapolis avenue and it is alleged that the colored man grabbed the watch from his pocket. Dixon saw the movement and held the alleged thief. It is said several bystanders witnessed the attempt to steal the watch and will be used as witnesses in case the defendant does not plead guilty. The chain attached to the watch was broken in two.

JUMPED FROM TRACTION CAR AND IS ROLLED ON GROUND

Accident Started the Rumor That a Man Had Been Killed at Brown Street Crossing.

The report that a man had been killed at the Brown street crossing by an interurban car gained wide publicity Thursday afternoon but the rumor was without foundation.

As a northbound car was entering the city one of the passengers who was so anxious to reach the festival he could not wait for the car to stop and attempted to jump from the platform. He was inexperienced in jumping cars and was rolled on the ground. Witnesses telephoned to a local physician that a man had been hurt and the physician hurried to the Brown street crossing but the stranger had regained his feet and was gone before the doctor arrived. Apparently the man was not hurt.

Festival Notes.

The Zouave Band which is proving very popular with the crowds, goes from here to Dallas, Texas, where they have a sixteen week's engagement.

One of the interurban cars from the south yesterday brought in 105 passengers and all cars were crowded to the steps.

The flower booth was a very popular place yesterday and disposed of over 9000 roses.

Judge Wesner is wondering what he is going to do with his pumpkins, as the exhibitors do not care to haul them home. He is undecided whether to start a canning factory or buy some hogs.

The Farmers' Club Building and the "Made in Jackson County" exhibit came in for many complimentary remarks from the visitors.

Seymour people greatly regret the rain which interfered with the entertainment they had planned for their Columbus and North Vernon guests. The committee had done everything possible, even to having present the Secretary of Agriculture, who has charge of the Weather Bureau of the United States. Mr. Houston remarked that his department was accomplishing good work in all lines but so far had been absolutely unable to control the elements.

E. C. BOLLINGER RECEIVES FIRST FLORAL PARADE AWARD (Continued from first page)

the favorites with the crowd and the award was popular. The car was beautiful in its garb of white and purple wisteria. Mrs. Blish's electric car was also deservedly popular and the swan effect was carried out very cleverly and beautifully. Mrs. Smith's car, with its decorations of golden rod, iron weed, ferns and butterflies was very much admired and easily won in the Buick class.

The judges complimented all the floats very highly and said that each one was worthy of special mention.

The parade Thursday afternoon was witnessed by an immense crowd which lined the entire route of the procession. Practically all of the entries of the day before were in line and an additional float which attracted much complimentary attention was the Red Cross ambulance, in which Dr. C. E. Gillespie and the nurses of the Schneck Memorial Hospital rode.

After the parade the cars were parked on south Chestnut street and were viewed by large crowds. The moving picture photographer who was expected here to take pictures of the pageant failed to arrive.

The Floral committee desires to thank all those who participated in the parade for they realize that it was their interest and cooperation that made the pageant such a crowning success and one of the most interesting features of the festival. All of the participants gave much time, work and expense to the decoration of their cars, and the committee regrets that there were not more prizes to distribute.

H. L. Bridges, Secretary of the Floral Committee, was active both in securing entries and in helping them secure their decorations, and devoted his time to this feature of the festival and is deserving much credit for his efficient work.

ROWDYISM WILL NOT BE PERMITTED AT MARDI GRAS

Notice Issued by Chief of Police McCord Puts Ban on Confetti, Whips and Canes.

With the hope that the record for good order during the fall festival will not be broken during the Mardi Gras tonight, Chief of Police McCord has issued a notice that all persons who engage in any sort of rowdyism will be properly and severely dealt with as provided by law. A ban has been placed on whips, canes and confetti and everybody must be orderly.

The following notice has been issued by Chief of Police McCord.

Four days of our Fall Festival festivities have passed with almost perfect order. We are very anxious this good record should not be marred in the last two days. So we are asking all our people to exercise proper control during the masquerade, stopping short of any thing that could be called rowdyism. Whips, canes, confetti, etc., are forbidden. All law-abiding citizens will comply with these suggestions. Others must. Policemen and committeemen have been given instructions to this effect.

PRESIDENT WILSON BECOMES MEMBER OF FARMERS' CLUB

Secretary Houston Also Returns to Washington With a Certificate of Membership.

When Secretary of Agriculture Houston left Seymour Thursday afternoon after delivering an address at the dedicatory ceremony at the Farmers' Club he carried with him two certificates of membership of that institution. One was made out in his name and at his request the other bore the name of President Wilson. The certificate of membership will be presented to President Wilson as soon as Secretary Houston arrived at the Capital.

Secretary Houston declared that so far as he was aware this was the only exclusive Farmers' Club building in the entire United States. He was enthusiastic over the plan of providing a city home for farmers and believed that the idea would grow in popularity. He was also informed of the manner in which the weather forecasts are sounded by the whistle at Blish's Mill and he declared that this was also a new idea to him and declared that he believed the plan would be taken up in other places if proper publicity were given it. The enthusiastic manner in which he commended upon the plan left the impression that he may make a suggestion soon in one of the weekly bulletins issued by the department of agriculture.

Today is observed as fire prevention day in Indiana but as the local schools were in session only until noon because of the festival no exercises were arranged. The Governor has asked that furnaces and flues be inspected so the property owners will know they are in good condition.
